BRIDGE SCHOLAR: DR. JEAN PIERRE N Dagijimana

Dr. Jean Pierre Ndagijimana, a Senior Clinician for Solid Minds, earned his Doctorate and Master’s degrees in International and Multicultural Education from the University of San Francisco/California. He also did graduate studies in Public Health and completed his Bachelor’s degree in Clinical Psychology at the University of Rwanda. His interests are in post-genocide Rwanda recovery with a focus on stress regulation training for mental-physical health. Dr. Ndagijimana has lectured at various academic institutions, while living in the United States with a particular focus on issues related to African refugees and immigrants. Dr. Ndagijimana’s research utilizes cross-cultural methods for recovery caused by prolonged stress and adversity, and emphasizes community-centered practices, and African-born frameworks such as the use of metaphors, proverbs, and community drumming to promote both mental and physical health.
